THE VIRGINIA MYSTERY

MISS MADISON AND CLIVERUS TRACED TO THE RESERVOIR.

Undoubtedly in Her Company There, Scratched Hands—Microscopic Search for Human Cuticle—The Will—The Child Murderer.

RICHMOND, Va., March 26.—When Thomas J. Cliverus is put upon trial for the murder of Fannie Lillian Madison, as the coroner's jury decided that he shall be, the case against him will depend almost entirely upon circumstantial evidence, unless definite and unexpected facts shall hereafter turn up to convict or acquit. The testimony practically establishes the fact that he got in a street car with the girl on the night of her death. The testimony is almost as conclusive that a young man and a young girl got off a street car of the same line within a quarter of a mile of the reservoir where Cliverus and Fannie Madison, and that this was within a short time of the moment that the girl was thrown or threw herself into its icy water. There was at least a suspicion for the murder in that he had certainly betrayed the girl, that she was about to become a mother, that he was engaged to be married to another lady, and that Miss Madison very probably threatened exposure and the vengeance of her relatives.

But in the opinion of every one who has read the testimony, there is certainly no reasonable doubt of Cliverus' guilt, and in any event, the trial must be among the most memorable in the criminal annals of the country. If the case is as distorted and it is found, under the microscope, that places of human cuticle are under his finger-nails; if it is found, as is now charged, that the lack of Cliverus' hand shows marks of scratches, the microscope might yet convict him, and at least send him to prison for life.

The excitement in the city now grips all over the state. All Virginia is watching the progress of events in this case.

Coroner Taylor extended an invitation to Cliverus to make a statement before the jury, but he declined the proposition by the advice of his counsel.

The examination of Cliverus before the police court will take place on the 29th inst. He has secured the services of eminent counsel.

All sorts of theories continue to be advanced in reference to the murder of Miss Madison. There are many people who from the neighborhood of Cliverus' home who have known from infancy Thomas Judson Cliverus.

From some of them it is learned that a few years ago Cliverus, a well-known farmer of Rock and Queen county and uncle of Cliverus, made an institution of $25,000 to a well known educational institution in this city.

The news of the death of his daughter led to his wife at whose house Cliverus was found and arrested by the officers from the city.

Franklin Taylor, who was to be divided between Thomas J. Cliverus and Fannie Lillian Madison. In the event of the death of one of the parties, the survivor was to inherit the whole estate.

Mrs. Tustall, the aunt of Cliverus, is advanced in life. Cliverus, a member of her family, seeing gradually but surely making inroads upon an otherwise not strong frame, and being a lawyer by profession, and knowing the delay and loss the requests of his uncle might be subject to, perhaps thought the best, and most prudent plan was to divide the estate, thereby doubling his estate and at the same time getting rid of the woman who was between him and his alliance. If this be the correct interpretation of Samuel Tustall's will, it is not unreasonable to suppose that he desired for more money prompted the crime.

The CHILD MURDERER.

Horrible Details of the Death of Melville Barrett.

RICHMOND, Va., March 26.—A dispatch from here says that an account of the cold blooded murder of Melville Barrett, a boy of seven years old, by his cousin, Mary Cooper, a girl of eight.

The crime was near Scottsville in Albemarle county. The boy's dead body was found in an out-house and it was suspected that the Cooper girl was the murderer. The state mental supporting that theory, made by a little five-year-old sister of the young murderer, who claimed to have witnessed the crime, was not generally believed.

Circumstantial evidence related to David Cooper, an uncle of the dead boy, with whom both the children lived, as the murderer, and he was committed to jail in Albemarle. The two Cooper girls were to have been taken to the court house to testify before the grand jury.

In talking with several parties Mary Cooper, the eight-year-old girl, acknowledged that she killed the boy, saying the boy ate her egg, which a hon had laid on the bed; that she and her sister persuaded him to get their cousin to go to a swimming, and when the rope had been attached to the ceiling of the cabin, she made a loop into which he was made to put his head; then they knocked the chair from under him and struck him several severe blows over the head with a shovel. Her confession corroborated the statements of the statements of her sister from the outset. The fact had already been developed that the boy was entirely under the control of the elder of the girls, and that she had been allowed to chain him whenever he felt disposed. Both the girls have been taken to jail.

A Break in the Line.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Appointments and Nominations—S. C. Cox to Turkey—Political.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—At a caucus of republican senators the matter of providing places for their companies in the army during the recess of congress was the principal question discussed. It is understood that the conference was called in order that there might be some general understanding by the majority as to how far the senate should go in creating such places. The controversy is based upon a resolution recently submitted by Mr. Sherman, proposing to recruit so much of all resolutions passed since March 1 as to include the employment of "special" clerks during the congressional vacation. The debate took a wide range, and it is evident from what has been gathered on the subject that considerable feeling was manifested. The senators are not having annual clerks to their committees but having obtained authority from the senate to carry them over during the vacation period, naturally opposed Mr. Sherman's proposition.

They went so far as to state that if this resolution was passed, they would insist on revision of the entire committee list of the senate. Without reaching a point of order, the subject was deferred. It is stated that the general understanding was reached in the caucus that all pending treaties should be the subject of the understanding to take up the remaining treaties.

IN COWBOY STYLE.

Illinois Distillers in Georgia Defying the Revenue Officials.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 26.—A bad state of affairs prevail at Highlands, Macon county, Ga. Disorderly people ride through the town discharging fire arms in regular cowboy style. They have established illicit stills in the wild region around Highland. The United States deputy collector and posse made arrests of a number of ringleaders and took them to Highlands.

While at the hotel a mob of mounted men rode into town and attacked the deputy marshal. They were repulsed by the revenue men who killed one of the mob, and the deputy marshal and his wife were wounded. The attacking party scattered in all directions. The citizens notified Governor Sevier of the condition of affairs and he has ordered Solicitor General Ferguson and Adjutant General Johnston Jones to go to Highlands and thoroughly investigate the case.

It is necessary to use troops, which are at Asheville and Waynesville ready for duty.

AN OHIO GIRL IN PANTS

THREE YEARS AS A LABORER, SERVANT AND CAR DRIVER.

Romantic Experience of "Sidney" Hammond, of Canton—A Gay Girl Goes Wrong by Unseeing Herself—On the Mash—Arrested in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 26.—In the Desplines Street station is a girl of sixteen who has masqueraded as a boy for three years. She will be held until her parents who live near Canton, O., on a farm can be communicated with. Three years ago she playfully donned male attire. So pleased was the girl with the appearance she presented as a dashing young man that she decided to adopt it for the time being and visit the exposition then in progress at Cincinnati. After "doing" the exposition she determined to continue the comedy and see the world.

Her first experience was at the town of Marion, Ohio, a station on the Chicago and Atlantic railroad. Here she served in the capacity of a day laborer, where she mixed with other companions and to all appearances enacted the role of a horny-handed son of toil. This sort of recreation, however, ceased to be an amusement in time, and she retired from the service of the contractor and journeyed to Canton.

At that point she secured employment at a dairy farm in the vicinity and for a year did chores about the place, milking the cows and caring for the stock. She also sang the cythe, and was much admired for her skill in the rest in following in the wake of the mower. During the last season she was placed in charge of a milk wagon and drove a route in Canton.

One of her customers' daughters became suddenly smitten with a tender passion for the handsome boy. Perceiving this, and desiring to avoid what would have resulted in a perplexing contretemps, the "handsome boy" gave over his job, and last December journeyed to Chicago, where he was employed at the shops of the West Division railway company, and during the bitter weather of last winter was found to be a valuable acquisition to the force.

Her duties, though of a subordinate character, such as leading the horses to water, were discharged with the most strict fidelity, and by her faithfulness, industry, sobriety and attention to business, attracted the notice of Superintendent Leach. When Leach was visiting at the Athenian Superintendence Franklin suspected her sex and quietly instituted inquiries, which resulted in the discovery of his suspicions. Franklin thereupon showed him a letter addressed to Mrs. L. Hammond and watched its effect upon her. The lady admitted that it was not her, but that she was a valuable acquisition to the force.

Franklin at once conferred with Capt. Bond and the result of the interview was that she was taken to the Desplines street station, where all doubt was removed by the acknowledgment that "he" was not what "he" seemed, but a girl, and a girl, as a Western avenue she roomed with a boy of about her own age, sixteen, but he suspects nothing wrong even at the present time.

DEAD MAN'S DISGRACE.

An Auditing Committee Find That the Party is Deceased.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—A large and most successful swindling operation was revealed this evening to the board of directors of the William Penn saving and loan association of Norristown, Pa. The auditing committee consisting of N. H. La Scaiere, Thos. S. Ames and D. J. Mother, who were appointed two weeks ago to audit the accounts of the secretary, Samuel D. Delp, now dead.

The audit showed that the books were well kept, but that the association was in a flourishing condition. But an examination of the assets disposed of the fact—as was stated in the report of the committee—that the secretary, only officer of the association implicated, in conjunction with parties in Philadelphia, had obtained loans for large amounts, and that the property was being sold by the secretary, and for which loan, after the money was obtained, either no mortgage was given, or, if given, was destroyed by the conspiring parties.

There were at least a dozen of these mortgages, aggregating $28,601. This plundering had been carried on for seven years, and during all that time the defalcations have escaped the scrutiny of fourteen auditing committees. Delp was a prominent member of the Baptist church, and for this reason the officers and stockholders of the association, many of whom are members of the same church, placed implicit confidence in him, so much so that since last November—he had not entered any securities. He left no estate.

The association will be able to pay twenty-five per cent of the present worth of the shares, which is thirty per cent of the money invested by the subscribers.

Delp was once secretary of the Schuylkill Valley Mutual fire insurance company, and the money is also believed to have been $1,000, owing to his speculations. J. P. Laver, S. L. Butts and Benj. May, who have indorsed notes for Delp, are also out of pocket.

TOO MUCH WHISKY.

Meeting of the Western Distillers' Export Association.

CINCINNATI, March 26.—The Western distillers' export association met at the Grand hotel. President H. B. Miller, of South Bend, and Secretary George Gibson, of Chicago, are present. George K. Dackward said:

"The object of this meeting is to reduce the tariff on duty on twenty per cent. There is too much whisky."

Another member said: "The surplus in Cincinnati and Chicago is about exhausted, and some of the distillers are about to start a new crop. This is a meeting of the running horse only. It will probably agree to an increased production."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Great Excitement in England Over War Questions—All the News.

LONDON, March 26.—There is great excitement here over the reports from Constantinople to the effect that the Porte has asked the advice of Bismarck in regard to the Russo-Russian alliance against England. The war office is besieged with newspaper men eager to learn the particulars. No information of a reliable character is forthcoming. The general feeling is in spite of assurances of the government that war between Russia and England is inevitable, and every one knows once such a war is begun, that it will mean a bitter conflict, probably of many years duration. The likelihood of Turkey having resolved treachery toward England does not surprise any one, as it is well known that the Sultan has long been eager to distract the attention of the people from the extravagance of the court, and that nothing could do this so effectively as war is generally conceded. The huge orders given by the government for supplies and munitions of war are regarded as positive evidence that the government is preparing for a great conflict.

Not Exaggerated.

LONDON, March 26.—The feeling of alarm in minister circles at the prospect of a Russo-Turkish alliance can hardly be exaggerated. Lord Granville, minister of foreign affairs, had a special interview with both Mr. Musgrave, Turkish minister and Tehi Pasha, special envoy of the Turkish government to England. The consequence of the critical turn which the Afghan question has taken, and which the descriptions are weak. Consols are falling rapidly, and are quoted at 97½. This is a drop of ½ per cent within an hour, and is looked upon as conclusive evidence that news of the gravest character may be made public at any moment.

Cleveland's Will.

LONDON, March 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a statement by Mr. Lowell in which he says that Mr. Cleveland would be the last man to make an inconsiderate appointment to any office, especially that of London. He says Mr. Phelps is a man of high character, high independence and most agreeable social qualities, and the change was unavoidable. Both countries are to be congratulated on Mr. Cleveland's wisdom.

The Onward March.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 26.—A large convoy, carrying stores and provisions to General M. Nekrasov, is being sent to the front. The advance convoy being closely watched by the members of the signal corps from a captive balloon. Should an attack in force be made by rebels on the transport column notice will be signalled from the balloon and additional troops hurried to the rescue.

Advice Asked.

LONDON, March 26.—It has been definitely ascertained that the Russian Prince Bismarck for advice concerning the advisability of an alliance between Turkey and Russia against England.

Down They Go.

LONDON, March 26.—The London market for Russia and England is improving. Consols are one-half and Russian securities one per cent lower.

EMBRACED BY A LUNATIC.

Amusing Adventure of a Militia Captain With a Crazy Woman.

MASSACHUSETTS, March 26.—While the Putnam Rifles, who were on their way to New Bedford, were waiting for the train to leave, an incident occurred which much amusement to the spectators. Capt. I. H. Adams walked into the hotel waiting room to speak to a friend. Just as he reached the door of the room a lady hurriedly left her seat near the door, and running up to him, patted him on the cheek, pulled at his blouse and twisted the buttons on his coat.

"My," she said, "what a pretty man you are! What a pretty fellow! What a nice fellow! Where did you get your pretty clothes? Why didn't you tell me you were coming?"

Never having seen the lady before, the captain was much surprised. He was about to suggest that she was mistaken, when she said: "I am not mistaken. I am thinking she knew him, when a man called up to her and drove the lady away. I saw her and was being taken to the lunatic asylum at Millisborough."

ON THE WAR PATH.

Lo, the Poor Indian Spreading Devastation in the West.

PIERCE, Dak., March 26.—Indians are at work on the Winnebago reservation. Shocks and buildings are being burned all along the reservation. The Indians are threatening. Major Swan telegraphed to Pierre for aid, and a sheriff's posse, well-armed, has gone down to the scene of the trouble.

Clarence Hinkley defended his house at the peril of his life, and succeeded in driving the savages and saving the lady away from the hands of the Indians. Trouble is brewing all over the reservation. Buffalo Ghost Spirit and Kane are the ringleaders in the insurrection.

Cincinnati Democracy.

CINCINNATI, O., March 26.—The following ticket has been nominated by the democrats of this city: Mayor, Geo. Goetz; city solicitor, J. M. Davenport; city treasurer, George Haraucourt; board of public works, M. J. Ryan; city president, Jordan Thomas; police judge, J. W. Fitzgerald; inferior court director, John P. Scully; ward master, Jeremiah Cronin; justice of the peace, Vincent Schwan; members of the board of health, at large, Chas. W. Damschroder, Stephen P. Sands, David L. Johnson and Edward Remm.

He Will Contain His Suspicion.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 26.—In the controversy between the governor of Iowa and State Auditor Brown, whom the governor has suspended, the latter has been told that the state has given an official opinion that Brown is no longer state auditor, but that his status of temporary auditor is terminated. Brown will now test Cuttill's title to the office by quo warranto proceedings.

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1885.

COLONEL HART GIBSON is a candidate the State Senate in Fayette.

The venerable David Meriwether is again a candidate for the Legislature in Jefferson.

There trouble between the locomotive engineers and the Missouri Pacific railroad has been amicably arranged.

CAPTAIN A. J. Goss, of Cloverport, has been recommended by the Attorney General for United States Marshal of Kentucky.

Sevax dollars is the railroad rate this week from Cincinnati to New York and it is predicted by railroad men that by next Saturday it will be $1.

Hon. JACOB THOMPSON, Secretary of the Interior under President Buchanan, died Monday afternoon at his residence in Memphis. He was in his seventy-fifth year.

SENATOR LAMAR has decided to appoint a commission to investigate the workings of the Interior Department with a view to re-organizing and re-arranging the work and force.

REV. H. W. BENDER said to a reporter of the Birmingham Age, that he was in favor of a Southern man for President in 1888, and spoke of Secretary Lamar as the man for the honor.

It is said that Hon. George H. Pendleton had his choice of the Foreign Missions and chose Berlin. He completed his education in Germany and speaks the language of that country fluently.

The Democrats of Cincinnati have nominated George Gerke, for Mayor; J. M. Dawson, for Solicitor; George Heranourt, for Treasurer, and Michael Ryan, for member of the Board of Public Works.

This Lexington Transcript says: There is no truth in the report that several companies of the State Guards had been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for active services, presumably to go to Rowan or Carter Counties.

The following is given for what it is worth: "Republicans in Congress expect a division of their opponents growing out of the failure to ratify the treaty, in which case they promise to come to the support of the President. This is the policy of Mr. Blaine."

The work of reform goes on. Secretary Manning has sent a circular letter to heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions in the Treasury department, requesting them to report in writing as soon as practicable, whether, in their opinion, the force employed in their respective offices was reduced, and to what extent, without detriment to the public service.

He Took the Wrong Seat.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)
At one of the theatres the other evening a man who had sat between his wife and daughter left it at the close of the act for a trip down stairs. When he returned he found a vacant seat two rows back between two women, and dropped into it with the remark: "As Mrs. Manning when I went out, it's none of your pudding what other women wear. Because some one else in the society last week, herself by wearing cotton stockings in the winter it doesn't follow that you must do the same." "Sir!" came from both sides of him at once, and the way he booted red hot.

Ladies of the Cabinet.

Mrs. Manning is so far the green one in the new Cabinet. She is a bride, although not a very young woman and brought to Mr. Manning some wealth and a social position. She is tall, with a slender, graceful figure, has good features, light brown hair and great animation and grace of manner. As a thorough society woman, she is wholly equal to the demands of her position. Mrs. Manning will soon be the best known and most popular of the new cabinet. Mrs. Villis resided with Mrs. Manning at the Arlington yesterday, and this quiet, graceful little woman, who made the acquaintance of the society last week while the guest of Mrs. Leiter, has won great favor already. Mrs. Villis goes back to Wisconsin in a few days, and will not bring her children and her mother to establish herself in a house until fall. Mrs. Endicott, wife of the new War Secretary, was also at home at the Arlington, and the visitors there to her to be a typical Massachusetts woman; a cool, clear-headed, energetic Yankee, whose blood is the bluest of any in the great commonwealth. Mrs. Endicott is tall and stately built. Her features are clear cut and decided, and with her dark eyes she has a crown of gray hair that is very high and laid in smooth coils on the top of her head. She had a pleasant welcome and a vigorous handshake for all yesterday, and a fund of quick speech and ready command. All Massachusetts gentlemen gathered in her parlors and were proud to tell one in asides how the Endicott family tree ran generations beyond that of the Adams family, including the "haughty Endicott," British Governor of the early colony, and known to the younger generation through the "Ballad of Captain Southwick," a favorite declamation at school exercises.

SULLIVAN PLAYS BASE BALL.

The Champion Splinters a Hat Into Teeth.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—The first base ball game of the season was played in Fairmount park. Sullivan was the pitcher. There were nine players on a side and the number of innings was not limited. The players were John L. Sullivan, Patsey Sheppard, Port Nixey, Tommy Rogers, Sullivan's friend from St. Louis, Louis Reed, John McGee, Denny Costigan and Johnny Riley, boxers; Johnny Clark and two or three others.
The bat was splintered in two pieces in two minutes after Sullivan placed it up. The game was what is called single-handed base. When the game was engaged in Sullivan's room there were at least 500 men and boys down stairs waiting patiently to see the champion. In order to avoid a riot, Sullivan got a big covered wagon and a little old horse. The ball players slipped out the back way and got into the wagon, but they did not own the crowd, who rushed pell-mell around the rear of the hotel. When the wagon arrived a hundred men and boys followed. After a chase of a mile the crowd gave up and turned back. Sullivan walked calmly and collected with dumb-bells. Both he and Sullivan complain that crowd inroads were their walking.

Respectful consequence.

BATAVIA, N. Y., March 25.—Charles H. Howard, real estate speculator, made an argument here a week ago. The village has been greatly astonished over the developments in the manner of doing business. Howard, many of whom were widows or young men who had placed all their eggs in one basket, have been so much surprised by Howard's transaction that they have every day they looked him in the face. Howard has been placed in the Buffalo as a man. Though some of his associates are disposed to believe this is a move to avoid criminal prosecution, as a prudent move by Howard's transaction it is Major H. J. Glowacki, who was associated with him in the coal and lumber business. The assignments of Howard's and Henry J. Glowacki were filed. Mr. Glowacki had no active interest in the business and trusted implicitly in Howard.

BUFFALO, March 25.—It has just been learned that Major O'Hara, who was arrested at Utica on Friday to one year in the penitentiary for aiding in smuggling lumber into Canada, has escaped to Canada. O'Hara was on the river bank and while in custody, a United States marshal, who was taken in to prison, requested and obtained leave to visit his family. While the officer's attention was occupied by the prisoner's wife, friends of O'Hara jumped through a window of a side room and into his boat, and escaped. His escape is considered extraordinary, but cannot be held to account.

WASH OF WAR WAVES.

MANITO AND SALVADOR MENAGED BY THE REBEL'S MARCH.

Half-Breeds Renegade Kampant with Regiment in Pursuit—Indians, Insurgents and Half-Breeds—Hunting Parties and His Allies.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 26.—Nothing is talked of here save the rebellion, and as reports come in the excitement increases. Intelligence has just been received of an attack by the rebels upon a detachment of mounted police which was proceeding to the relief of Fort Carlton. Fifteen of the police were killed and others wounded. Another report in circulation is to the effect that Riel has been shot and the rebels have captured and imprisoned forty whites, and have taken possession of more stores. Four Indian chiefs and their bands have joined the insurgents who now number over a thousand hardy men, all well armed.

A dispatch from Edmonton to the Hudson Bay company says 400 half-breeds are located in the vicinity, holding a secret meeting and organizing for action.

The insurgents have seized several private stores and are burning Hudson Bay trading posts. Gen. Middleton, commander-in-chief of the Canadian militia, will arrive Thursday and take command of the expedition against the rebels. The Ninetieth battalion and field battery and Middleton will follow by a special train and overtake them. The Winnipeg detachment of mounted police have left for the scene. The commissary department is busy purchasing horses, sleighs, wagons, and other supplies.

It is proposed to break the Ninetieth regiment into three divisions and forward them from different points along the railway. New arrivals from Prince Albert say the half-breeds have been preparing all winter for the uprising, and are well provided with supplies, ammunition, etc. Military circles are very busy. Recruits are being received for both corps, as a full complement is wanted. Two hundred men have enlisted and several squads are drilling. The men are being supplied with accoutrements and ammunition. The troops have been dismissed for a few hours, but buglers are galloping all over the city summoning men to arms in order that they may start for the seat of the disturbance at once.

Intelligent Barrios.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—While Barrios is advancing on Salvador at the head of an army of 15,000 men, President Zaldívar of Salvador, was at Santa Ana, on the Guatemalan frontier Monday, with 10,000 men, ready to meet the onset of Barrios. At the same time General Frederico Foreman, brother of the late President of Costa Rica, entered Nicaraguan territory at the head of a force which will join the Nicaraguan army and march into Salvador to aid in resisting and beating back Barrios.

Mexico has in the meantime withdrawn her legation from Guatemala, and it is believed here will give the Guatemalan minister in Mexico his passports within the next few days.

The official gazette of Costa Rica received here reports that on the 7th of March an assembly of notables, convoked by the president, unanimously resolved to resist by all the means of the country the despotic attempt of Barrios.

HE PASSED IN HIS SLEEP.

But Failed to Answer the Questions in His Waking Moments.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., March 25.—In attendance at the sessions of the Central Methodist conference held here during the past week was a young itinerant theologian, a probationer, preparing to undergo the final examination in a progressive series required to be passed before he could complete his probationary period and become a full-fledged divine. He had already passed five of these examinations successfully, but was greatly concerned as to the sixth.

He roved and talked of it in his sleep most of the night. Huntington was pretty crowded during the conference, and accordingly the young theologian was obliged to occupy a bed room in a boarding house, already occupied by three or four other persons, among whom were a young lawyer and a young Methodist minister of full degree. Returning together the other night from a late session of the conference, the minister and lawyer were roused to hear the anxious candidate asking imaginary questions pertaining to his coming examination. They instantly grasped the situation, whereupon the divine (no conclusion to conduct the mock examination himself), suggested the formal questions to the lawyer, who in turn propounded them in a very severe manner to the student.

In this way they went through the whole examination required by the church organization, the student answering in his sleep all the questions directly. The lawyer told him, however, that he had made lots of mistakes and would have to be put back another year. At this the student showed much distress, protesting against such a decision, and begging to be allowed another trial. This farce was repeated for several nights until the student went before the official examining board. But here, owing probably to his anxious state of mind, although he had previously answered all the questions correctly, he utterly failed to pass, and was "put back another year."

The Sara Sola Assassination.

TAMPA, Fla., March 26.—The trial of Alfred B. Bidwell, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., charged with a murder committed in conjunction with others, known as the "Sara Sola assassination society," was begun at Pine Level, the county seat of Manatee county. The most intense interest is shown in the proceedings, and the lives of the prisoners have repeatedly been in jeopardy. The grand jury has indicted Bidwell and eight others for murder in the first degree. The case was continued to the next term of court.

Perished in the Flames.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 26.—Geo. Green, colored, of Georgetown county, was awakened by smoke. Discovering that his house was on fire he seized one of his children and dropped it out of a window. He then awoke his wife and three children and attempted to get them out. The fire, however, had made such headway and the smoke was so dense that he could not reach them and barely escaped with his life. The wife of Green and three children were burned to death and the house reduced to ashes.
